

presents a

December Holiday Concert!

WITH THE

KENT CHORUS

Scott MacPherson, Conductor

performing

Little Organ Mass

by Joseph Haydn

and with a guest appearance by the

KSU WOMEN'S CHORUS

Kerry Glann, Conductor

Performing several songs of the season

7:30 pm • Sunday, December 4, 2011

Cartwright Auditorium • Kent State University • Kent Campus

The Kent Chorus, along with string orchestra and soloists, will perform Joseph Haydn's Missa brevis Sti. Johannes de Deo, also known as the Little Organ Mass, Charles Baker's rousing setting of Three Hanukkah Songs, and Josef Rheinberger's harmonically rich Angelis suis, featuring KSU baritone Darryl Lewis. As in prior years, the KSU Women's Chorus will be featured in several songs of the season.

Reserve your tickets now! General admission is $15, admission for all students/children (kindergarten through college) is $5. General admission tickets are available at Woodsy's Music in downtown Kent, from chorus members and at the door. Student/child tickets are available only at the door; college students must show a valid college ID at time of purchase.

KENT STATE UNIVERSITY
Hugh A. Glauser School of Music

Sponsored by

Singers: come join us this Spring semester to sing Poulenc's masterful Gloria and P.D.Q. Bach's famous dramatic oratorio Oedipus Tex, for chorus, orchestra and soloists. Rehearsals will begin on Tuesday, January 10, 2012. Contact Dr. Scott MacPherson with your intent to sing, smacpher@kent.edu or call 330-672-2909.

KENT STATE UNIVERSITY

P.O. Box 5190
Kent, OH 44242-0001

220109

Hugh A. Glauser School of Music

Dated Material
PLEASE DELIVER IMMEDIATELY

Non-Profit Organization
U.S. Postage PAID
Kent, Ohio 44242
Permit No. 2

Reserve your tickets now!

Tickets are available at Woodsy's Music
in downtown Kent, from chorus members, and at the door.

General admission: $15

Student/Child: $5