

This summer, we will be upgrading to the new versions of the ALEKS instructor and student views. The plan is to upgrade all campuses by Summer 3 on July 11th. I'll be testing the new views in my Summer 1 classes to work out any issues in advance of the fall.

McGraw-Hill is available to meet with faculty virtually or on-campus to review any aspects of the new views. Please reach out to Mary Wilkinson, our campus representative, and Kristin Dyer, our ALEKS Implementation Manager, with any requests: mary.wilkinson@mheducation.com & kristin.dyer@aleks.com. Of course, ALEKS Support is also available for any emergency or technical issues: <http://www.aleks.com/support>.

Here are some resources that will be helpful:

- Attached are demo student registration instructions, so you can create a student account and experience the new student view.
- You currently have the ability to toggle between the old and new instructor views if you'd like to see what the new view looks like.
- You can find full reference guides for both the student and instructor views on the ALEKS Training Center: https://www.aleks.com/highered/training\_center.

Please let us know if you have any questions.
