- Video and pdf for lecture notes as well as home works are posted on the course homepage. In general the lecture notes should be sufficient for you to learn and the book is not required. I will use "Applied Combinatorics" by Alan Tucker as a very general reference.

- Grading - very direct! One exam - 50 points. 10 homeworks, 10 points each = 100 points. Some homeworks will contain extra points or extra questions. But there will be no "curve". Add up your points from all the HW and use

- Again, I will prefer not to use my office much so would prefer to avoid face to face office meeting. BUT, I will answer my emails as fast as it only possible, you are always welcome to email me "an idea" of a HW solution which you have problem to finish. I will also always replay to msgs to my cellphone. In addition, you can arrange (almost any day/time) a face to face online meeting with me over skype/facebook/zoom/Microsoft Teams or any other "technology".
